FACTORS USED TO DETERMINE PRACTICAL DIFFICULTY OF AN AREA VARIANCE

A) Whether special conditions and circumstances exist which are peculiar to the land or structure involved and which are not applicable generally to other lands or structures in the same zoning district; examples of such special conditions or circumstances are: exceptional irregularity, narrowness, shallowness or steepness of the lot, or adjacency to nonconforming and inharmonious uses, structures or conditions:

B) Whether the property in question will yield a reasonable return or whether there can be any beneficial use of the property without the variance:

C) Whether the variance is substantial and is the minimum necessary to make possible the reasonable use of the land or structures:

D) Whether the essential character of the neighborhood would be substantially altered or whether adjoining properties would suffer substantial detriment as a result of the variance:

E) Whether the variance would adversely affect the delivery of governmental services such as water, sewer, trash pickup:

F) Whether the property owner purchased the property with knowledge of the zoning restrictions:

G) Whether special conditions or circumstances exist as a result of actions of the owner:

H) Whether the property owner's predicament feasibly can be obviated through some method other than a variance:

I) Whether the spirit and intent behind the zoning requirement would be observed and substantial justice done by granting a variance:

J) Whether the granting of the variance requested will confer on the applicant any special privilege that is denied by this regulations to other lands, structures, or buildings in the same district:

FACTORS USED TO DETERMINE UNNECESSARY HARDSHIP OF A USE VARIANCE

A) The property cannot be put to any economically viable use under any of the permitted uses in the Zoning District:

B) The variance requested stems from a condition which is unique to the property at issue and not ordinarily found in the same zone or district:

C) The hardship condition is not created by actions of the applicant:

D) The granting of the variance will not adversely affect the rights of adjacent property owners or residents:

E) The granting of the variance will not adversely affect the public health, safety or general welfare:

F) The variance will be consistent with the general spirit and intent of the Code

G) The variance sought is the minimum which will afford relief to the applicant:
